

SOCIAL PRESCRIBING: A HOLISTIC APPROACH TO HEALTH

Social Prescribing Outcomes¹

*Three months post social prescription.
Nine months post social prescription.

In Canada, nearly 100% of seniors aged 65 and older plan on supporting themselves to live safely and independently in their own home for as long as possible.² For those who lack natural supports like family relationships, community-based programs help complement their medical care. This allows older adults to experience greater independence and helps reduce the length and frequency of hospital stays.

Over 80% of a person's health depends on social determinants of health like adequate food, housing, income and relationships with others.³

Social prescribing bridges the gap between medical and social care services. When older adults present with non-medical symptoms like loneliness, healthcare professionals can refer them to community-based programs to enhance their quality of life.

START SOCIAL PRESCRIBING TODAY!

The Unison Connect is a social prescribing program that links the healthcare system to senior-serving organizations in Medicine Hat. This reduces the demand on healthcare professionals and better equips them to support older patients (50+). Through the program, doctors, nurse practitioners and other regulated health professionals alike, can promote healthy aging and resilience in their communities.

Here's how to get started:

STEP 1:

Make an Assessment

After your medical examination, determine whether your patient has a non-medical need that is affecting their health and well-being.

STEP 2:

Write a Social Prescription

Complete the Unison Connect Referral Form

STEP 3:

Submit a Referral Form

Submit your completed referral form by email to linkworker@unisonalberta.com or fax to 587-289-5305. Please ensure patient consent is obtained before making a submission.

WHAT HAPPENS NEXT?

Once you submit your referral form, a Link Worker* partners with your patient to develop key goals and access community-based resources. The Link Worker can also attend appointments, make exercise group referrals or help your patient to complete a benefits application form. As the healthcare provider, you will receive updates about your patient's progress.

A Link Worker is a non-clinical professional employed by a community-based, senior-serving organization. This individual builds relationships with older adults under their care and monitors their progress.*

The healthcare sector in Canada is facing a human resources crisis.

Health Care Professionals lack the time and resources needed to provide holistic care to patients. Through social prescribing, patients can seek non-medical supports through their community. This preventative approach to care improves short and long-term health, which reduces reliance on costly emergency and primary care resources.
